

A cross-sectional study on a sample of 1200 subjects residing in the Viterbo province is ongoing to collect individual information on a series of individual risk factors like chronic diseases, smoking, BMI and other lifestyle habits to better investigate the association found in the previous study.

Read more

Health effects of the exposure to arsenic in drinking water in the Lazio region